GIVES DINNER TO CABINET

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 16.—The first of the formal social functions of the season at the White House was the dinner given by President Taft to-night in honor of his Cabinet. More than a score of guests were invited to meet the Cabinet officers and their wives. Mrs. Thomas K. Laughlin, of Pittsburgh, a sister of Mrs. Taft, took the latter's place at the table. Mrs. Laughlin probably will represent her sister at all of the state dinners and receptions during the season, although Mrs. Taft expects to appear at least for a time during the big reception on New Year's Day.

Of those who attended to-night's dinner, President Hadley, of Yale, and Mrs. Hadley; Mayor R. G. Rhett and Mrs. Rhett, of Charleston, S. C.; and Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Carnegie are house guests of the President and Mrs. Taft.

Among the dinner guests, in addition to those already mentioned, were Governor and Mrs. Swanson, of Virginia.

LEWIS IS CONFIDENT OF HIS RE-ELECTION

WHEELING, W. VA., December 16.—Thomas L. Lewis, national president of the United Mine Workers of America, to-night declared before leaving for Indianapolis, that he has been re-elected president of the union miners' organization. Mr. Lewis produced figures in support of his claim, saying that in No. 1 anthracite district of Pennsylvania alone forty-one locals had given him a majority of 2,000, and that in twenty Ohio locals the vote showed a proportion of four to one in his favor. Mr. Lewis said that Tennessee was practically unanimous in his favor.

WILL SUBMIT BILL TO BAR CRIMINALS

Department of Commerce and Labor to Propose Measure.

FOR ALL CLASSES OF ALIENS

Modifies Immigration Act and Checks White Slave Traffic.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 16.—Drastic legislation that shall be retroactive in its remedial effect is to be employed by this country to stamp out the "white slave traffic" and suppress, as far as law will do it, the importation and immigration of aliens morally defective. Following the publication of the recent report of the Immigration Commission concerning the traffic in immoral women, and the introduction by Senator Dillingham of a bill making those who engage in such traffic guilty of a felony, punishable with a fine of not more than $5,000, in addition to imprisonment not exceeding ten years, and enabling the government to arrest and deport immoral alien women without regard to the limit of time of their residence in this country, the Department of Commerce and Labor will soon submit for the consideration of Congress a comprehensive bill modifying the immigration act of February 20, 1907, which will not only meet the requirements of this subject, but extend to all classes of alien criminals as well who undertake to secure a foothold in the United States.

The department has found itself often hampered in its effort to enforce the provisions of the present immigration act. Courts, as a rule, it is declared, tend toward leniency in many instances. In the case of the contract labor law, it is said, it has been found time and again that the law was not as specific as it should be, and evils have resulted. Then, again, the department has found that the penalties imposed for serious violations of the law were not severe enough to carry weight with the criminal classes. They were far too inadequate.

The bill introduced by Senator Dillingham, as the result of the Immigration Commission's report, follows closely the lines advocated by the Department of Commerce and Labor. It applies, however, only to the "white slave traffic."

The desire of the Department of Commerce and Labor, especially of those who have the administration of the immigration laws under their supervision, is to cover all classes of criminals in such an effective manner that escape through judicial leniency or the inadequate language of the law itself will be impossible.

Senator Dillingham's proposed bill removes the three-year limit of the present immigration act within which an alien woman engaged in an immoral business may be deported. It enables the government to arrest and try the case wherever the criminal is found, instead of at the port of entry, as decided in some cases, or the final stopping place of the alien, as decided in other cases.

It even extends the provisions of the law to immoral traffic between the States and Territories, and makes the offense a felony, the same as with aliens; and it provides in all cases that a wife shall be competent to testify against her husband, and vice versa, in such cases.

The proposition of the Department of Commerce and Labor, it is said, will make it a misdemeanor for a deported alien to return to this country after deportation, and, unlike the immigration act of 1907, will enable the government to prosecute those who have come into this country at any time until they are actually naturalized.

Secretary Nagel proposes to go to the root of the evil arising from the coming to or dumping upon the shores of the United States of the criminal element of foreign countries. Aided by the experience of the officials of his own department and with the legal ability to successfully and effectively cope with the situation, it is said the proposed modifications of the immigration act of 1907 which he will suggest will result in the best immigration act yet suggested to enable this country to protect itself against the criminal classes and at the same time extend to the deserving alien who comes to make his home here every assistance within the legitimate province of the government.

Premier Laurier Rejects Plan for Representation in Washington.

OTTAWA, Ont., December 16.—A proposal to press for the appointment of a Canadian attaché at Washington to advise with the British ambassador on Canadian questions was rejected in the House of Commons yesterday by Premier Laurier. In asking that the resolution be withdrawn, Mr. Wilfred said:

"I am sure everybody will agree that the best of relations should prevail between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race. I am glad to be able to say that never have those relations been more cordial than during the last seven years."

"I am glad to acknowledge also that the British ambassador at Washington at the present time has given more attention to Canadian affairs than was ever given before. Even if we had an attaché at Washington, I do not think that it would be possible for him to pay more attention to the business of Canada than is paid by the present British ambassador. "Perhaps the time will come when we shall think it advantageous to have somebody to take especial charge of our diplomatic business at Washington, but for the present the want is not seriously felt."

DECLARES PEOPLE SHABBLY TREATED

Attitude of Washington Citizens Toward Inauguration Visitors.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 16.—There was a lively tilt between Commissioner Macfarland and Representative Rucker, of Missouri, at the hearing to-day before the House Committee on the Election of the President, Vice-President and Members of Congress, to urge a favorable report on the bill introduced by Representative Gaines, of West Virginia, changing the date of the inauguration of the President from March 4 to the last Thursday in April.

Mr. Macfarland appeared, not only as Commissioner of the District of Columbia, but also as chairman of the national committee on the proposed change of inauguration day. The argument between Mr. Macfarland and Mr. Rucker was entirely aside from the question of whether it would be a good thing to change the date of the quadrennial inaugural. Mr. Macfarland had not been speaking long when Mr. Rucker interrupted to make the charge, which the latter repeatedly reiterated, that out-of-town visitors in Washington on such an occasion were shabbily treated and compelled to pay exorbitant prices for everything they got.

"The whole trouble," said Mr. Rucker, "is this: The people of the District of Columbia hog the whole shooting match. The inauguration business is a grand racket for the people of the national capital, but not for the people who come here."

"The streets are obstructed, the public parks are used by private interests for their own gain, seats are sold for exorbitant prices, and the usual result is that most of the people who come here from all parts of the country to see their new President have to send home for more money."

Commissioner Macfarland indignantly denied the truth of these charges, and insisted that the inauguration committee always made every effort to extend the hospitality of Washington to all visitors, and that prices were kept within reasonable bounds.

But Mr. Rucker, warming up to his work, interrupted the commissioner to insist on his statement that the prices were never reasonable. He told the committee that he had personal knowledge from people of his own district in Missouri of persons who were compelled to pay $10 a night for the use of a cot in the hall of a hotel.

"This time Mr. Macfarland interrupted to insist that the public comfort committee of the general inaugural committee took the very best care of all visitors who made application for rooms and meals, and that the list of places where lodging and food could be had at these reasonable rates had never been exhausted by inquiry."

Refund Is Justified.

Referring to the complaint which, he said, was frequently heard regarding the matter in which the citizens of Washington subscribed to the inaugural fund, he said that the men who always contribute to this fund usually devote that entire time for many weeks to perfecting the arrangements for the inaugural, and that it was only fair that the amount of their subscription should be returned to them when possible.

Mr. Macfarland also denied a statement by Mr. Rucker that the grandstand seats were held for speculative purposes.

Loeb to Confer With Officials Regarding

NEW YORK, December 16.—William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York, left suddenly for Washington this morning, presumably to confer with President Taft and Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh concerning the ever-increasing sugar scandals. With the outbreak of the war, the Sugar Refining Company now involved, new avenues of investigation have been opened up, paving the way for future criminal procedure.

Counsel argued all day at the trial of six employees of the American Sugar Refining Company, now drawing to a close here, but arguments had not been concluded when adjournment was taken. The case will go to the jury to-morrow.

Concrete developments, following yesterday's payment by the Arbuckle of nearly $700,000 to reimburse the United States Treasury for deficits, due to false weighing, included the announcement that another of the big sugar refining companies was preparing to settle with the government as to the Arbuckle had done, as soon as it had been officially informed of the amount the government claimed to be due. This company was the National Sugar Refining Company, next to the American Sugar Refining Company in the extent of its operations.

The national's president, James H. Post, stated that the government investigators had been going over the books of the company for months, and recently informed him that the company owes the government more than $700,000 in uncollected duties. No demand for restitution had been made upon the officials of the national company up to to-day.

TRYING TO PROVE ALIBI

Evidence in Case Against Alleged Night

UNION CITY, TENN., December 16.—With the introduction of a number of character witnesses, the defense in the murder trial of Garrett Johnson and Arthur Clow, alleged leaders of the night riders, on trial accused of the murder of Captain Quentin Rankin, will, close today. This announcement was made when court convened to-day by the attorneys for the defendants.

Strenuous were made by the defense to-day to establish impracticable alibis for the two men accused of the murder of Captain Quentin Rankin. Witnesses were introduced to state that they had spent the night of the murder at the homes of Johnson and Clow, and knew positively that they were not at Walnut Log at the time of the murder, in short, they corroborated the defendant's testimony of the previous day.
